JBC | Trading Benefits Terms

1. Scope

1.1 These Trading Benefits Terms (the "Terms") govern any trading benefit (each, a "Trading Benefit") that FGFC Markets Global Ltd, trading under the brand name Jim, Ben & Conners (the "Company", "we", "us" or "our"), may make available to its new and existing clients from time to time.

1.2 Any Trading Benefit will be credited to the client's trading account and is governed by these Terms.

2. Eligibility

2.1 To be eligible for a Trading Benefit, a client must first have read and accepted the Company's Client Agreement and terms of business, which are always readily available on the Company's website.

2.2 A Trading Benefit will only be granted where each of the following conditions is satisfied:

(a) the client has completed the verification of their trading account, satisfied the Company's onboarding procedures, accepted the relevant terms and been approved by the Company's compliance department;

(b) no Trading Benefit has previously been granted to that client in respect of the same trading account during the relevant promotional period;

(c) the client has not applied for any other promotional offer during the same promotional period; and

(d) the Company, acting in its sole discretion, has determined that the client's deposit and trading activity qualify for the Trading Benefit to be retained.

2.3 Trading Benefits are personal to the client and may not be transferred, assigned or exchanged.

3. Types of Trading Benefits and Withdrawals

3.1 The client acknowledges that the Company may offer different types of Trading Benefits. Some types may be withdrawn freely, while others may only be withdrawn once certain conditions have been met.

3.2 If the client makes a withdrawal from the trading account, the Company will adjust or remove the Trading Benefit accordingly. The amount adjusted or removed will be calculated by reference to the amount withdrawn and the withdrawable equity available in the trading account at the time the withdrawal is made.

3.3 Under no circumstances will the total amount refunded to a client exceed the client's initial deposit.

4. Additional Terms

4.1 Individual Trading Benefit may be subject to additional terms, which will be communicated to the client. These additional terms are published on the Company's website and/or sent by email to the client's registered email address. Clients are strongly encouraged to read these Terms and any applicable additional terms before accepting a Trading Benefit.

4.2 The Company may amend the additional terms applicable to any Trading Benefit at any time. A client who does not wish to continue with a Trading Benefit following such an amendment should inform the Company by contacting Customer Support or by emailing info@jbandconners.com.

5. Removal of Trading Benefits and Abuse

5.1 The Company may remove a Trading Benefit from a client's trading account if the account becomes inactive, or is suspended or terminated, in accordance with the Company's Client Agreement and these Terms.

5.2 The Company may also remove any Trading Benefit where it suspects or identifies that a client, or a group of clients, is attempting to abuse or is abusing a Trading Benefit.

5.3 The Company does not tolerate abusive trading of any kind, including any use of a Trading Benefit to manipulate, interfere with or exploit the trading platform.

5.4 Where a client acts in bad faith, or uses a trading account for the purpose of hunting the Trading Benefits, the Company may reverse any related trading transactions and close the client's trading account.

6. General

6.1 These Terms form an essential part of the client's relationship with the Company and are legally binding on the client.